Section and Chapter Headings for Children's Books

[French: Les titres des sections et chapitres]

Children's books tend to not have section or chapter headings. This means you will be dividing each image by page number. The page numbers should match the original pages. Each section will have the image with proper Alt-text, followed by the text you transcribed. All text should be in Normal Style.

Sometimes you will have a book that doesn't have images on every page. This will mean some pages will just be text, and others will be images. Maintain the page number headings to be consistent with the original book.
